HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

REGULARS AND VOLUNTEERS ENGAGED IN THE MEXICAN WAR.

LETTER

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF WAR,

TRANSMITTING

A report from the Adjutant General, in compliance with a resolution of the House of Representatives, in relation to the number of United States troops that have been engaged in the war with Mexico, the number who have been killed, died from wounds, &c.

MAY 4, 1848.

Laid upon the table, and ordered to be printed.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Washington, April 8, 1848.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution of the House of Representatives, without date, which is in the following words:

“Resolved, That the Secretary of War report to this House the number of regulars enlisted, and volunteers received into the service of the United States, since the commencement of hostilities between the United States and the republic of Mexico; what number of the same have been killed in battle, or died from wounds received in battle, what number have died from disease, and what number have been discharged as unfit for service, in consequence of disability, produced by disease. That he also report the strength of each regiment when mustered into service, and their strength according to the latest returns, and the State where raised, and the amount of the regular army at the time of the commencement of the war.”

The report of the Adjutant General, herewith transmitted, contains all the information required by the resolution, so far as it can be furnished from the files and records of this department.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

W. L. MARCY,
Secretary of War.

Hon. R. C. WINTHROP,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The Adjutant General's report to the Secretary of War, April 5, 1848, relative to the regular and volunteer forces employed in the Mexican war, from the commencement of hostilities in May, 1846, to December, 1847.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Adjutant General's Office, Washington, April 5, 1848.

SIR: In compliance with your instructions, I herewith respectfully furnish the information called for by the resolutions of the House of Representatives and of the Senate, dated respectively the 20th and 30th of December, 1847, relative to the regular and volunteer forces which have been employed in the service of the United States since the commencement of hostilities with the republic of Mexico, May, 1846. The two resolutions refer to the same subject, and embrace nearly the same description of what may be termed army statistics; and it was found that the information furnished in answer to the one, met substantially the requirements of the other, the difference consisting chiefly in the greater scope of inquiry in one of the resolutions.

1. The accompanying tabular statements A, B, C, D, E, exhibit in detail the varied information required to be furnished, so far as can now be obtained from the rolls and returns, &c., received at the Adjutant General's office, and in the form necessary to meet fully the objects of inquiry, as well as the most useful and satisfactory. Reference to these tables presents the following results:

THE REGULAR ARMY.

2. Statement A shows, on the extreme right in the first line of figures, the strength of the army at the commencement of hostilities with the republic of Mexico, in April, 1846, 7,244; the force on the frontier of Texas, May, 1846, present and absent, 3,554, of which 131 were sick; troops sent to Mexico, including recruits, 23,136, of which 12,551 are of the old establishment, and 10,585 new regiments, which, with the force on the Rio Grande in May, 1846, makes the whole number of the regular army employed every where in the prosecution of the war, inclusive of December, 1847, about 26,690, besides a battalion of marines, (350.) Twenty-nine thousand men have been recruited since the 13th of May, 1846, and 23,556 sent to Mexico, which exceeds the number joined as reported on the rolls and returns, many of which are wanting. (See the table "remarks," paragraph 5.)

3. The statement shows that the regular force in Mexico, New Mexico, and California, was, in December, about 21,202; and since the 1st of January, 2,493 recruits have been sent to the army, which increases the regular troops in all Mexico, it is estimated, to about 23,695. The six companies stationed in the United States, (556,) and 1,200 recruits in depot and at rendezvous, (total 1,750,) carry up the regular army every where, on the rolls, to about 25,445.

4. Table B presents a detailed view of the number of officers and men of the regular army killed and wounded in battle, and died of wounds, from the first conflict of the reconnoitring party, under Captain Thornton, on the left bank of the Rio Grande, April 25, 1846, to the close of the campaign of 1847, in which the battles, and the regiments and corps engaged, are specified.

CASUALTIES.

5. Old establishment: Discharges, by expiration of service, 1,435; for disability, 887; by order and civil authority, 253: total, 2,575.

Deaths: Killed in battle, 45 officers, 434 men; died of wounds, 19 officers, 331 men: total killed and died of wounds, 64 officers, 765 men; ordinary deaths, 44 officers, 1,787 men: total deaths, 108 officers, 2,552 men. Aggregate, 2,660.

Wounded: In battle, 130 officers, 1,799 men: aggregate, 1,929.

Resignations: 32, in 1846 and 1847.

Desertions: 1,637, of which 9 are marines.

6. Additional regiments: Discharges, by expiration of service, 2; for disability, 248; by order and civil authority, 56: total, 306.

Deaths: Killed in battle, 6 officers, 62 men; died of wounds, 4 officers, 71 men: total killed and died of wounds, 10 officers, 133 men; ordinary deaths, 28 officers, 977 men: total deaths, 38 officers, 1,110 men: aggregate, 1,148.

Wounded: In battle, 41 officers, 427 men: aggregate, 468.

Resignations, 76; desertions, 445.

THE VOLUNTEER SERVICE.

7. Statement C exhibits in detail, by States, regiments, and corps, the whole number of volunteers mustered into the service from May, 1846; of which 15,911 are mounted men, 1,164 artillery, and 54,234 infantry, making an aggregate of 71,309, including 3,087 commissioned officers. From this number, it is proper to deduct the force not called out by authority of the War Department, nor called out under the act of May 13, 1846, and also the number mustered, but soon after discharged, as supernumerary. This class is embraced in the three and six months' men, and two regiments of twelve months' men from Ohio and Missouri, and one company from Iowa, amounting to 14,383; of which 2,774 were discharged a few days after being mustered into service, (except the company,) not being required to proceed to the seat of war. Deducting this class of volunteers from the aggregate mustered and paid, (71,309,) the force enrolled under the act of May 13, 1846, and under the 5th section of the act of March 3, 1847, which authorizes the President to accept the services of "individual volunteers" to fill vacancies, &c., is about 56,926 officers and men. But this number was further reduced by discharges, &c., before the battalions had left the United States; and it is probable that the number exceeded but little, if any, 50,000 men, when put en route for the army.

8. So far as can be ascertained from the latest returns received, it appears that the volunteer force for the war and for 12 months, (2,017,) now employed in Mexico, New Mexico, and California, (25,260,) and the eleven companies (1,082) within the limits of the United States, the sick included, amounts to 1,456 officers and 24,886 men; aggregate, 26,342, being 7,589 less than the number of the same regiments and companies (war men) when first mustered into service. But this difference does not show the actual loss; first, because the greater number of the individual volunteers enrolled, (i. e., recruited,) among which there is much loss, had not joined their regiments at the date of the last returns, and were not of course taken up on the rolls, but they are included in the table, in the aggregate "received into service." And second, the casualties, i. e., discharges and deaths, (ordinary,) exhibited in the statement, must be considerably under the actual number, owing to the missing muster rolls yet due from many of the regiments, from which the information alone can be obtained.

9. Table D presents a detailed view of the volunteer officers and men killed and wounded in battle, and died of wounds, in which the several battles, the regiments engaged, and the States where raised, are specified, and may be regarded as supplemental to statement C, as table B is to statement A, with respect to the regular forces.

The following general statement presents a condensed view of the various objects of inquiry respecting the volunteer forces, seen in detail in the tabular statement C.

10. Three months' men: The strength when mustered into service was 1,390, and when discharged 1,269, being a loss of 121.

Discharges before the expiration of the term, 82, of which 3 were for disability.

Deaths, 18; ordinary, 8; killed in battle and died of wounds, 10.

Desertions, 22.

11. Six months' men, (but held only for three months, the legal term:) Strength when mustered into service, 11,150, and when discharged, 9,559; loss, 1,591.

Discharges, before the expiration of the term, 826, of which 370 were for disability.

Deaths, 127; ordinary, 107; killed in battle and died of wounds, 6; accidental, 14; desertions, 524.

12. Twelve months' men: Strength when mustered into service, 26,344, and when discharged, 18,724; loss, 7,620, (including loss or difference between original and present strength of 21 companies twelve months' men still in service, 2,017 strong at the last returns.)

Discharges, before the expiration of the term, 4,391; of which, 3,966 were for disability.

Deaths, 2,111; ordinary, 1,633; killed in battle, and died of wounds, 423; accidental, 55.

Desertions, 568.

13. Volunteers for the war.—There are now 31 regiments (or equal to as many) and 4 companies in service—the aggregate strength of which, when mustered under calls from the War Department, respectively dated June 26, 1846, (1 regiment,) November 16, 1846, (equal to 8 regiments and 5 companies,) April 19, 1847, (equal to 7 regiments and 2 companies,) August 26, 1847, (5 regiments,) October 8, 1847, (2 regiments,) and at various other dates, (equal to 7 regiments and 7 companies,) was 31,914, being 2,626 less than if all the regiments and companies had been full, as authorized by law. Strength at the last returns—officers, 1,357; men, 22,968; aggregate, 24,325—reduced, by this date, probably, to less than 20,000.

Discharges, 1,339; of which, 1,084 were for disability.

Deaths, 1,691, to wit: ordinary, 1,481; killed in battle, and died of wounds, 171; accidental, 39.

Desertions, 1,770.

14. The casualties incident to the whole number of volunteers, under various periods of service, so far as can be ascertained from the rolls received, are as follows, viz:

Discharges, before the expiration of the term, 6,638; of which, 5,423 were for disability.

Deaths, 3,947, to wit: ordinary, 3,229; killed in battle, 47 officers and 419 men; died of wounds, 164, officers and men, as far as now ascertained; accidental, 108.

Wounded, 129 officers, 1,217 men.

Resignations, 275.

Desertions, 2,884.

15. Table E presents a detailed statement of the volunteers on the rolls for service in Mexico, New Mexico, and California, including eleven companies (1,082) within the United States, according to the latest returns, to wit: 5,527 horse, 297 artillery, 20,518 infantry—making a total of 24,886 men, and 1,456 commissioned officers—aggregate, 26,342; of which, 2,017 are twelve months volunteers. This view includes absent men recruited under the law of 1847, many of whom will never join; and, as is already remarked, it is believed that the actual strength of regiments and companies in the field does not exceed 20,000 men, including a numerous invalid list. The forces called out by regiments, and separate or independent companies, and now in service, equal 33 regiments and 1 battalion, and require not less than 15,000 men to complete the establishment.

16. General and staff officers provided for the volunteer troops.—The number of general and staff officers appointed for the volunteer forces, under the acts of July 5, 1838, June 18 and June 26, 1846, is 289; of which number, 11 are generals, 26 majors, 104 captains, 124 surgeons and assistant surgeons, and 24 additional paymasters. Thirty-seven of the persons appointed declined acceptance, 47 were discharged as supernumeraries, 44 resigned, 18 appointed in other corps, 15 died, and 128 are now in service.

* In the reports of the deaths of volunteers, of ordinary disease, officers are not discriminated.

18. The numbers reported under the heads "wounded" and "died of wounds," in each particular battle or affair, (tables B and D,) although correct as exhibited in the field reports of the generals forwarded immediately after the action, are liable to correction in the regimental returns and company rolls subsequently made up and forwarded to the department; thus, many reported in the first despatches as being "wounded," die of their wounds, perhaps, weeks after the action, and are so noted by the colonels and captains. This apparent discrepancy ought not to affect the aggregates; for, although the details of results vary at the different dates, both may have been correct. It is also proper to state that the discharges on account of disease or disability, and the number of ordinary deaths reported to the War Department, and exhibited in the table, must be much less than the actual numbers, inclusive of December 31, 1847, owing to the missing muster rolls and returns, and the failure of many of the special reports enjoined by the regulations, but not received from many of the commanders of regiments and posts; from which sources such precise information must, in part, be derived. When the casualties under these heads, during the first three months of 1848, shall have been reported, the losses will greatly exceed the number now exhibited.

19. It appears, from the latest returns and reports, that the whole land forces borne on the rolls, at home and in Mexico, may be computed as follows: Regular army about 25,445; volunteer troops, 26,470, (but supposed at this time not to exceed 20,000 men)—making an aggregate force of 51,915. But, I should remark, it would not be safe to count upon more than 45,000 men, and still less in the field, efficient for service.

This report has been delayed greatly beyond the period usually necessary to respond to any call for information derivable from the records of the Adjutant General's Office. But it has been unavoidable, and no time has been lost in careful and diligent examination of the multifarious rolls and returns, by the most experienced officers and clerks, for such results as were needful to answer the resolutions in the manner supposed to be the best and most satisfactory. Besides the continued pressure of other indispensable business of the office, a chief cause of delay in furnishing information of this description, is the exceedingly defective accountability of the personnel of the army in campaign, by regiments, corps, &c., enjoined by the 13th and 19th articles of war, and the general regulations, which I had occasion to mention in my annual report of November 30, 1847.* At the date of the Senate's resolution, but few of the returns had reached the Adjutant General's Office, and the greater part were not received until more than a month after.

Respectfully submitted.

R. JONES,

Adjutant General U. S. Army.

Hon. W. L. MARCY, Secretary of War.

* It was stated that "the required returns, &c., have not been received from more than nine-tenths of the regiments (regulars and volunteers) for more than six months; and hence it is not practicable at this time to furnish the annual 'general return of the army' (or actual state) in the usual tabular form," &c.

Remarks accompanying statement A.

1. In this statement, (taken from the muster rolls and regimental returns,) due allowance must be made for the failure on the part of inexperienced officers, chiefly of the new regiments, to report all the casualties incident to the service, as well as for the failure of many of the rolls and returns, some of which, it is supposed, have been cut off by the enemy.

2. The view of the "army in Mexico, December 31, 1847, (2.) is an aggregate of all the regular troops in Mexico, New Mexico, and California, derived from the latest returns and rolls received, (some go back to October,) and is as accurate as the present sources of information will admit.

3. The statement of casualties in the old regiments commences with the breaking out of hostilities in April, 1846; that of the new regiments commences in March and April, 1847, during which months they began to be organized. The actual loss under the heads of "number discharged" and "ordinary deaths," is probably greater than exhibited in the statement, as the missing muster rolls due from many of the regiments from which the information can only be obtained will show, when received.

4. The number of recruits includes all who have been enlisted since May 1, 1846, to December 31, 1847, of whom 312 were assigned to companies stationed within the United States. Some were retained at the several rendezvous and depots of instruction, &c., 79 died, 792 rejected and discharged, and 1,806 deserted before being assigned to regiments. These losses are not included in the casualties exhibited in the table.

5. It is known that a large number of recruits which arrived at Vera Cruz and other places in Mexico, have never joined any regiment, and probably never will be properly accounted for. Among the numerous detachments put en route for the interior, many were killed or left sick and died en route and in hospital, and did not join their regiment. It is also known that several hundred recruits have been organized as separate companies, and not been incorporated with any regiment. From these various causes, probably not less than 1,500 recruits sent to Mexico, have never been reported in any general return received from the army, &c.

6. The numbers reported under the heads "died of wounds" and "wounded," in this statement, (A,) do not agree with the like casualties exhibited in the field reports of the commanders, forwarded immediately after the battles, which are liable to correction when subsequently reported in regimental returns and company rolls; thus, many reported in the first instance as "wounded," die of their wounds perhaps weeks after the action; and although the numbers vary at the different dates, they both may be correct. The aggregates ought to agree, but this cannot be the result now, because so many of the intermediate rolls and returns are missing.

Respectfully submitted.

R. JONES,
Adjutant General, U. S. army.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Adjutant General's office, Washington, April 5, 1848.

Hon. W. L. MARCY, Secretary of War.

NOTES.

The number reported under the heads "wounded" and "died of wounds," (statements B and D,) showing the losses in each particular battle or affair, although correct as exhibited in the field reports of the commanders forwarded immediately after the action, are often liable to correction when subsequently reported in the regimental returns and company rolls: thus, many reported in the first despatches as being "wounded," die of their wounds perhaps weeks after the action, &c. This apparent discrepancy ought not to affect the aggregates, for, although the numbers vary at the different dates, both may be correct; but the results under these heads in the several statements do not agree, because so many of the intermediate muster rolls and returns are missing, &c.
